Complete Improvement On Business Loops Here

LANSING — Completion of two safety projects in Crawford and Oakland Counties was reported today by the State Highway Commission.

The two projects, which cost nearly $91,000, are part of the Commission's 1968 Spot Safety Improvement Program.

Projects completed include: CRAWFORD COUNTY — Widening and improvement of the State St. intersection with the I-75 Business Loop and M-72 in Grayling. Contract also included the construction of 13 traffic islands on I-75 BL and M-72 in Grayling to control traffic turning to and from the two highways. Contractor on the $28,521 project was the Lake and Howell Construction Co. of Whitmore.

Gilbert Stewart, Chairman of the Board of Kirtland Community College, President Lloyd Van Buskirk, and Dean of Students, Edward Harkins, observe the work being done by Steele Bros. Excavating in preparation for the construction of the first unit of the College.

The site, located at County Road 600 and East Sunset Drive, Roscommon County, near the intersection of the four counties comprising the College District, was acquired from the State of Michigan, in a trade at an average cost of $105 per acre. It is necessary for eligibility for Federal construction funds that the college have clear title to the land. This transaction will enable the Kirtland district to receive many thousands of dollars for assistance in construction which would not be available to any other form of ownership or use permit.

The College is presently accepting applications from students for admittance to its first class in the fall of 1968. Applications are available at high school offices as well as directly from the College office in Roscommon.

Police Warning

Top Archer, "Gentleman Jim" Joins Bear Archery Team

One of America's top professional tournament archers, "Gentleman Jim" Pickering, has been selected to manage the Model Pro Shop at the soon-to-be-completed Fred Bear Museum in Grayling. This announcement came recently from Robert Kelly, Bear Archery Company vice president of sales.

Although he has been active in archery for a dozen years and has been a Professional Archery Association member since 1963, Pickering has been a part-time archer up until now. He worked as a welder at a Salt Lake City, Utah, firm by day and practiced by night.

Pickering's most recent accomplishment was winning the International Indoor Open. Although his employment has kept him from participating as much as he would have liked, Pickering has been a consistent tournament winner since his first PAA win at Enchanted Forest, California, in 1963.

Bob Kelly, in commenting on Pickering's appointment, said, "Choosing Jim to run our new model pro shop is consistent with Bear Archery's belief that nobody can sell the sport of archery like someone who really knows and loves it."

Pickering has been tabbed "Gentleman Jim" by his fellow tournament archers because of his quiet, friendly behavior. As an archer, he stresses concentration and consistency.

He was chosen recently to field test the newly-redesigned Bear Tamerlane HC-300. His close work with bowyer Owen Jeffery and other top members of the Bear staff, led to the appointment as Pro Shop manager.

At 28, Pickering hopes to remain active in tournament shooting for a number of years. He is married and has four children. The Pickering family has just completed their move from Salt Lake City to Grayling.

Concert Season To Open This Friday

The vocal groups of the Crawford County Schools will open their 1967-68 concert season this Friday with a "Fall Concert". This is the first year that the choir have opened their concert season this early. Previous seasons have opened with the Christmas presentation of the choir. This year's Christmas Concert will be presented on December 20 and will feature the "Christmas Oratorio" by Saint-Saens.

Friday evening's concert will be presented by the Concert Choir presenting a variety of selections from various eras of music composition. Their first selections will come from the classical and romantic periods of music composition and will feature selections from Bach and Brahms. These will be followed by selections of modern composers who have written in the style of the old masters.

The Concert Choir will then turn to the driving Latin-American rhythms for their next two numbers. These will be followed by selections from the large field of American folk music. The Concert Choir will close their portion of the concert with selections from the popular American Broadway Musical "Oklahoma". Tentative plans call for the performance of the complete score of "Oklahoma" in the spring.

The final half of the Fall Concert will be presented by the 87 voice Junior High Choir. They have subtitled their portion of the evening's performance "A Gaslight Serenade" during which they will present several selections that have been known and loved by Americans for many years. Most of these numbers come from early stage productions and vaudeville. Highlight of the serenade will be a performance of the American standard "Tea for Two" and a performance of "Stout Hearted Men," a song dedicated to the men of the United States Navy by Kate Smith during the First World War.

Doors of the high school auditorium will open at 7:30 p.m. and the concert will start promptly at 8:00. Plans are to hold the performance to one hour. Plan to attend now. Come early and get a good seat. Bring your hunters with you.

Pointing Won't Help

When it comes to assessing the blame for the decline in the dollar's purchasing power, varies greatly according to which end of the rope you're looking through. Mr. Gardner, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, says that, "Steel is our single most important industrial material. General stability of prices is difficult to achieve if steel prices rise far in excess of increases in productivity and inflationary pressure."

When you get right down to it, all this is large point. The primary cause of inflation is the federal deficit spending for non-military programs on top of war and debts. The primary blame for continuing inflation in the price of nearly everything we buy is directly on the doorstep of federal fiscal policy. Amount of official finger pointing in other nations can change that fact.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEAR AGO

Nov. 16, 1944

Over 50 Grayling business and professional men gathered at a dinner meeting last Friday evening at the Shoppens Inn. Clippert, who was named chairman of the committee by President Roy Trudgson of Kiwanis Club, was unanimously named a permanent chairman by the gathering as was Carl W. Peterson as secretary. The purpose of the meeting according to the committee was to begin plans for insuring jobs for returning servicemen. The committee wished to uncover any ideas or plans that individuals might have in an effort to coordinate all plans into one major action.

The visits from the parents were greatly enjoyed by the staff. Many problems of individual children were discussed and better understandings were reached.

Our own Crawford County was officially designated as the first Michigan county to reach its goal in the United War Fund Drive for this year, according to the Michigan United War Fund's campaign bulletin. While the state reports show that only 51 percent of the state quota has been reached, Crawford County now shows 120 percent. According to A. L. Miller of Battle Creek, President of the Michigan United War Fund Inc., the success of the Crawford County Drive can all be credited to the untiring efforts and efficient executive work of Emil Geigling of Grayling.

The first buck of the season observed by the Avalanche was shot by M. H. Wood of Lansing near Lovells before 9 Wednesday morning. The buck was hit just once in the head on Wood's second shot. This was the fourth season for Wood and his first buck. A group of deer were playing around quite some distance from him when Wood spotted the six-point buck. For the last three seasons, Wood has hunted near Grayling. The deer was estimated to weigh about 150 pounds.

David Durfee In Training at Fort Knox

FT. KNOX, KY. — Army Private David R. Durfee is assigned to Company B, 18 Battalion, 5 Brigade, here in the United States Army Training Center, (Armor (USATCA)).

He will spend the next two months learning the fundamental skills of the soldier in today's modern, action Army — firing live ammunition under simulated combat situations, learning protective measures and first aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks, as well as being schooled in the use of modern arms.

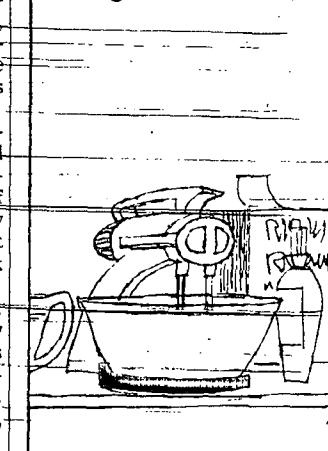

Interspersed with constant emphasis of proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following the completion of basic training, PVT. Durfee, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Durfee of Luzerne, Michigan, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Grayling, Michigan November 13, 1967

Dear Whitey,

This is not a plea for money. Though there are those who think the purse strings are closely connected to the heart, we believe there is a subject much closer to the hearts of all of us: This is the love and concern we feel for our own children and also for children everywhere.

Could you spare an hour from your busy life to learn how you might help save the life of an innocent child? In the happy holiday season ahead when we pause to consider our many blessings and to celebrate God's gift to us of His only son that we might have a more abundant life — can we afford to do less?

Cystic fibrosis is a subject very familiar and painful to me, but not to many others in Crawford County. Most of the children we know can reasonably look forward to a long, full life. However, research scientists tell us that one in every twenty apparently healthy people carry a recessive gene which causes cystic fibrosis. This gene in itself is harmless until an unsuspecting carrier marries another carrier. Then the chances are 4 to 1 that the disease will be transmitted to their children. There is no known test yet to discover whether one is a carrier before marriage. Early treatment and diagnosis are the best they can do so far, and they have made great strides in that in the past few years. Now with early diagnosis and treatment the life expectancy of a C.F. child has been lengthened from death in infancy or early childhood to life into teens, young adults and even beyond. Recent reports tell about some of these young people even marrying and having children of their own.

The cure, and control of this horrible disease lies in basic research. Unfortunately, funds for research are very scarce because so few people know about the disease. We believe that the world is full of kind, concerned people who would gladly help us to raise funds if they were told the facts and the need.

Monday, November 27, at the Grange Hall at 8:00 p.m. the North Central Chapter of the National Research Foundation will present a film entitled "The Mask of the Pied Piper". This is entirely free and without obligation. The purpose is to acquaint interested people with the disease and to explain some of the complications it presents.

As a personal favor to me, would you arrange your time so you can hear this presentation? Your life may never be quite the same afterward but what good are our lives except to serve God and our neighbors? It isn't easy to beg, but in this case pride is a luxury that I can't afford. Please come.

Sincerely
Dorothy Gezequel

P.S. — Please see page 95 of the November 11 issue of Life magazine for the latest development in early diagnosis of cystic fibrosis.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank Dr. Blaha, the nurses and staff of Mercy Hospital for the fine care, also friends and neighbors for cards, flowers and visits.

Mrs. Rauha Kaigas

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Elmer E. White

Michigan Press Association

Senseless Slaughter

Four Mackinac Bridges could be built for the cost of accidents on Michigan's highways during 1966 alone. The loss amounted to $415 million, less than one fourth the cost of Michigan's famous bridge.

There is now way to measure the grief, sorrow and pain involved with the 2,296 people killed or the 156,700 who were injured in 302,000 automobiles last year. If you think: "It can't happen to me," you should also be aware of your statistical outlook. According to figures supplied by Michigan State Police, your chances are these:

- One out of every 3,571 people in the state was killed last year in an automobile accident.
- One of every 523 was injured.
- One of every 7.4 motor vehicles was involved in an accident.
- One of every 9.2 licensed drivers was involved in a traffic accident.

A 10-year trend of 1956-66 shows little improvement in safe driving behavior of Michigan's five million motorists. While 1966 indicates the number of licensed drivers is up 37%, the number of accidents increased by 53%. Vehicle miles traveled increased 55% in 10 years, injuries increased 156%. Motor vehicle registrations are up 30%, deaths jumped 32%.

Keweenaw, at the northern tip of the UP, was the only county not recording a traffic fatality last year. Forty-five counties recorded increased fatalities; 30 had decreases and eight had no change.

Five major causes of accidents are responsible for more than 80% of the accidents, say State Police. They list these: drinking and driving, speeding, failure to yield, improper signals and following too closely.

Textbook Review

American history textbooks most commonly used by Michigan schools will be reviewed this fall to determine whether minority groups are fairly represented.

A new state law provides that all schools consider how fairly the accomplishments and achievements of minority groups are presented in their social studies and history texts.

A five-member advisory committee, appointed by the State Department of Education has begun a random survey of history books as the first step in determining minority racial and ethnic adequacy. There are some 660 social studies books used in elementary and secondary schools. Following the American history review, scrutiny will be given to civics, economics, geography, government, world history, sociology and psychology. The committee will use a panel of qualified historians to assist with the evaluation. A report of progress is to be made to the Legislature each year.

College Loans

Guaranteed loans to college students, administered by the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, passed the $10 million mark for the first time in the program's five-year history.

Some 2,000 such loans were guaranteed by the state in September, the largest number ever processed in one month, according to Ira Polley, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"Students in the larger metropolitan areas are still encountering difficulty in obtaining loans through the larger city banks, but youths in the rural and suburban areas have had good success," commented Polley.

"The tight money conditions of 1966 when lending institutions could not extend funds at the maximum six percent interest required under the student loan program seem to have been relaxed a great deal this fall," he said.

Since the program's inception in November, 1962, MHEAA funds have guaranteed 13,140 loans, totaling more than $9 million. Of this number, 1,236 loans totaling $783,380 have been repaid. Students have a maximum of 10 years after graduation or withdrawal from college to repay the loans.

Loans which carry the 100% faith and credit of the MHEAA must be negotiated through one of the Michigan banks, credit unions or savings and loan associations which have signed participating agreements.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The Chinese give various names to the year, such as the year of the tiger, the year of the dragon, and they even have the year of the rat.

And perhaps the year 1967 will go down in history as the Year of the Rat.

In which the Congress of the United States voted some $40,000,000 to exterminate rats.

There is no question but what rat infestation in some of the older sections of the nation's cities is a serious problem. The big question would seem to hinge on whose responsibility it is to get rid of them.

It does seem peculiar that the majesty and power of the government of these United States-of-America should be mobilized to trap rats. It would seem that this is a problem that local city government should address itself toward solving.

The sponsors of this bill claim there are 80,000,000 rats involved. This led Congressman H. R. Gross, Iowa, to ask just how this count was made. Apparently in his mind, if there are people who can accurately count rats, why did they not at the same time knock them off.

But cities do not have a monopoly on rats. There are also country rats, yet nothing is about spending federal money to destroy the country rats.

Could this be deemed a case of discrimination?

After all, a swarm of chickens or turkeys in short order, yet so far it has not been able to even rid Saigon of Viet Cong.

Of course, there is always possibility that after much litigation and concentrated thinking on the subject, the bureaucrats must decide the rats can be solved by the federal government giving a $40 million worth of tax money.

But of course this plan has run afoul of local city government. Then, a program could be set up to breed a new kind of rat, less tom cat. The long possibilities are quite many.

How much corn in a cornfield?

Bobby was raised in the city. It wasn't until recently that he had ever set in a cornfield.

Oh, he'd seen hundreds of cornfields from the window of a speeding car. Shopping with Mother at the market, he'd seen the golden ears peeping up their green jackets.

But when we visited the Stoner's farm Bobby actually set foot in a corn. And Bobby looked at our host as though he were a millionaire.

"Gosh, Mr. Stoner," he said, "God sure gave you a lot of corn."

The other day we had a note from the Stoners inviting us to have Thanksgiving dinner with them.

"Please bring Bobby along," they wrote. "He helped us appreciate just much corn there is in a cornfield—and where it comes from."

New Deer Hunting Rules

LANSING — Deer hunters are reminded by the Conservation Department that a few new hunting regulations are in the "rule book" this year. Among them:

The .22 rim-fire rifle, including the magnum, is illegal for deer hunting. A hunter may not carry a .22 during the deer season. The 170 ft. lbs. of energy of the .22 magnum at 100 yards is far below the 1,000 ft. lbs. which is the accepted minimum for deer hunting weapons.

If you shine a light to look for game, you must not have a gun or bow in your car, unless it is locked in the trunk or otherwise inaccessible to those in the vehicle. A gun in a case, or the bolt out of the gun is no longer good enough. If an officer signals you to stop when you are shining, it is now a violation not to stop.

Cub bears are protected. All bears look big when they are alive. Take a second look and if in doubt, don't shoot.

Muzzle loaders, .44 caliber or larger, are legal for deer hunters in southern Michigan this year.

4-H ARCHERY

Archery Club meeting — all students interested in 4-H archery meet at the Grayling Elementary School Thursday, Nov. 16 at 4:00 p.m. Students must be 11 years of age by April of '68.
